Interpretation

On April 4, 2009, the leaders of the 26 NATO countries met in Kehl and Strasbourg. Extensive security measures were implemented in both cities.

In the course of the ARGOS project, satellite images of both cities on that day were taken to provide examples for the possibilities and limitations of satellite based analysis of large-scale events.

This Quickbird satellite image acquired on April 4, 2009 shows a situation in Kehl at 01:00 PM. A large group of protesters is visible near the Europe bridge, facing German security vehicles. The adjacent former border post will be on fire soon after this picture was taken.

The Ibis hotel that burnt out later is also marked on the map.
